

Put your hand up if.....

- You have brown hair
- You wear glasses
- You have a brother or sister
- You like playing sport
- You can speak another language
- You were born in this country
- You know what you would like to be when you're older

All these things help make up your identity

So, what else makes up your personal identity?

Groups or clubs that you belong to
- cubs, brownies, football, singing squad, drama....

What your interests or talents are
- dance, computer games, reading, diving....

What things are important to you.
What your hopes are for the future.

Which people are important to you.

Your religion

The languages that you speak.

What you value also makes up part of who you are.

'Thumbs up, Thumbs down'

I'm going to show you some words on the board - if you think that thing is important to you, if it is something you value, then give me a thumbs up - if not, it's thumbs down.

The background of the image is an abstract composition of thick, expressive brushstrokes in shades of blue and red. The strokes are layered and directional, creating a sense of movement and depth. The colors are vibrant and saturated, with some areas appearing more saturated than others due to the layering of the paint.

We have talked about personal values, but can a country have values?

We all live in Britain, let's think about what Britain's values are....

We are going to be learning about
British values

- Comedy Car
- Democracy

Britain is a democracy - this means that the people in Britain vote for the people who make the laws and decide how the country is run. If we didn't have a democracy, just one person might be able to make all the laws and that would not be fair.

We are going to be learning about
British values

We are going to be learning about
British values

- Awful role
- Rule of law

In Britain we have a police force who make sure people do not do the wrong thing and break the law - this means that we are safe.

We are going to be learning about
British values

school

School Rules

School Charter

Class Charters

Behaviour Expectations

We are going to be learning about
British values

- I did vulnerability
- Individual Liberty

In Britain, as long as we do not break the law, we can live as we choose to and have our own opinions about things.

We are going to be learning about
British values

- Put result came
- Mutual Respect

We might not always agree with other people, but we try to show respect for their thoughts and feelings.

We can give respect to others and we can expect other people to show us respect.

We are going to be learning about
British values

- Mutual Respect in our school
